GEORGE T. HAMMOND,

The following lines were suggested by an incident which occurred during the recent visit of the "Putnam Phalanx" to Providence :
 AN INCIDENT.
 BY MARY FREN.
 From each schoolroom by the wayside
 Came the sound of little feet,
 Eager rushing to the doorway,—
 Eager rushing to the street,
 As the sound of magic music
 Softly on each heart did chime,
 And the noble "Putnam Phalanx"
 Marched to steps of olden time.
 Brightly beamed the eye of childhood
 As it gazed upon the sight,
 And remembered old men's stories,
 Told them on a winter's night;
 Of the daring deeds of Putnam—
 Till with tears each young eye fell

As the tales of that true hero,
 "Fightin' 'gaist great human ills."
 Amid a group of lovely girls
 Who by the wayside stand,
 Is one, who, with a pale, sweet face,
 Listens with clasped hands.
 "Oh, see," they cry, "they come, they come,"
 How strange their costume seems,
 As though the brave of Seventy-Six
 Had wakened from their dreams."
 On, on they came, 'mid loud hurrahs
 They passed adown the street,
 And cheers of men, and maiden's smiles
 On every side their way.
 "Oh, nearer come, dear Luz, come,"
 Her comrades called the while;
 "I care not, care not for the sight,"
 She answered with a smile,
 "I'd rather hear those gentle notes
 That flout upon the air."

That banishes all care;
 They sooth away each foolish thought—
 With which my heart has striven,
 They speak to me of music sweet,
 That I shall hear in heaven."

Oh, would that we upon whose brows
 More years have left their trace,
 Would give our hearts as fully up,
 As her of the pale, sad face.

As those sweet words fell on my ear,
 That from her heart were given,
 I felt the barrier must be weak
 Between her soul and Heaven.

PRISONED IN A VAULT EIGHTEEN
 YEARS.—A newspaper published at Mexico, on the 24th of ember, tells the following frightful

When Gen. Puobilita entered the town of Ayo, in September last, he exacted a forced loan from the people, and a share of it fell upon the curate of the place. The curate acted as though he could pay, but he did not make his appearance at the point designated for payment, and Gen. Puobilita ordered him to be arrested. A party of soldiers went to his dwelling and knocked down the door; there was no answer, and they broke in. They found no one there, but they searched the place, and found a large quantity of arms and ammunition, and were about to search the curate's house, when he appeared, and was taken to the prison.

ing from the ground, saying: 'a hungry!' The officer in command went back to Gen. Pueblita and inquired about the voice. The General appointed a commission to examine the house. This party went to the prisoner's dwelling, and, after a careful examination, they found a moveable trap in the floor, and under this was a way leading down to a vault, which was entirely dark, and had no communication with the air, save by the door, and a small hole that served as a ventilator. In this vault, some man who had been shut up there fifteen years. She was taken to Cecilia's quarters. When brought to light, where she saw a number of persons, she fainted. After she returned to her senses, in thousands were asked of her, to which she replied only that she had been in that vault for eighteen years, and that she was going out for a moment; that she had been married, and had children by her husband, but she knew nothing of their fate; that, while imprisoned in the vault, she had had

of what had become of these and after saying this much obstinately silent. While this was a sergeant of the British brigade, then present, discovered that this woman was his mother, and she recognized him as her son, and embraced him. The son then ran for his father, who came and recognized his wife. The husband, fifteen years ago, was imprisoned three years under charge of having murdered his wife, this woman.

The Pacific Railroad.

The project of building a railroad to the Pacific will probably occupy a prominent place in the deliberations of Congress, should that body ever decide to organize. There are two parties in favor of the speedy completion of a road to the Pacific, one called the Southern Road, by way of Texas, and the other the Central Road, by way of Pike's Peak and Salt Lake City. In regard to the Southern route, a Washington correspondent says:

A bill will be offered, in Congress, as soon as that body is organized, providing for the speedy commencement and the future completion of the Central railroad. Colonel Lander, with a responsible company of gentlemen, stands ready to contract with the government for building the railroad by sections, at the rate of six thousand dollars per mile; the government to grant the company a section of land, at each stopping place, and full fuel, wood, and timber for building purposes, the company to be paid for each section, only when it is completed and when a loaded train shall have passed over it at the rate of 20 miles an hour. Colonel Lander concedes that the railroad cannot be built for a less cost than twenty-five thousand dollars per mile; but he says the Company will guarantee to build it if the government will guarantee the grants they want and the six thousand dollars per mile as each section is completed. The six thousand dollars per mile, he says, will pay the interest on ten thousand dollars per mile for ten years, and the road is to be over the great route of overland emigration to California, Oregon and Utah. He claims that all the vast traffic of these sections of country would fall to the railroad; that the ocean steamers would no longer monopolize it; that there would be no land danger, or right of way, to pay for; that the country adjacent to the line would speedily become populous districts; that the mails and munitions of war would pass over the road; that the great silver diggings of the west, the great gold mines, five hundred miles west of the Mormon settlements, and the most western portions of Nebraska and Kansas would be connected by it.

How he got Married and Lost his Wife

A gentleman in Fall River, after several efforts, succeeded in raising a sufficient amount of courage to be married to one of the fair maids that grace that city. The happy event was duly solemnized day before yesterday, and the happy pair were conveyed at night to the New York steamer, in which they expected to commence a joyous bridal tour. Accompanied by a party of warmly sympathizing friends, among them a boy of blooming ladies—when they were over known to refuse sympathy in such trying circumstances—they entered the gorgeously furnished saloon, each one of the ladies exerting herself to the fullest extent in keeping up her own courage and that of others around her. They generously assisted the fair bride in arranging the bridal chamber, in order that the trip to New York might be as happy as possible, and also paid those delicate attentions to the somewhat bewildered bridegroom, which his trying situation seemed to require, and which ladies alone can understand.

So successful were they in their benevolent labors, that they beguiled his mind from care completely; to such an extent, indeed, was this carried, that after his lovely and interesting friends had bid their last tender adieux, kisses had been duly and sweetly exchanged, he suddenly awoke to a recollection of the fact that an important item of business on shore was not yet transacted. Excusing himself for his absence, assuring his bride, "whose eyes were wet with dewy tears," that he should return in a moment, he rapidly stepped ashore.

But, alas for human calculations! Scarcely had he found his way inside the depot, when the steamer left the wharf, and, hurrying back, he was just in season to see between himself and the partner of his bosom, an impassable gulf. What to do in a fix? And what was he to do? With questions of mingled shame and sorrow he called for a carriage, dashed to the telegraph office, sent a message to his poor, forsaken wife, "who, wondering what had become of her loved lord," was sitting disconsolate and alone, a prey to evil imaginings—directed on board steamer Bay State, asking her to stop in this city, at — Hotel, and stating that, as fact as horses could move, he was coming down to spend the night with her in New York. She accordingly left the steamer at Long Wharf, took rooms at — House, and soon afterwards was joined by the loved and lost.

Last night the distracted party made a second attempt to reach New York, and probably were successful, leaving in the New York boat at the usual hour. If it was not wicked, would say a copper that said bridegroom will never get into such a difficulty again.

CAN A MAN STEAL HIS OWN LETTERS?

In the United States Circuit Court, yesterday, Wm. Slavin, alias Sawyer, was put on trial for stealing his own letters from the Post Office. The defendant went by the name of Slavin in Rhode Island, and on moving to New York took the above name. He was in the habit of receiving letters at the Post Office addressed to him by the name of Sawyer. The Post Office agent suspecting he took letters not belonging to him, placed a decoy letter containing among other papers, a bogus check on the Bank of the Republic. Slavin got the letter, took the check to the bank and was in the act of endorsing it when he was arrested. A point was raised that he took a letter addressed to him by his adopted name, and consequently could not steal his own letter.

The Judge charged that a man could be guilty of crime, when in reality the letter was addressed to him, if after obtaining it, he discovered it was not intended for him and appropriated the contents to his own use. But this indictment charged him with taking a letter not addressed to him. This was not so. The letter was addressed to him, and the indictment was consequently irregular; and, in case of mistake, the prisoner was entitled to the benefit of them.

The jury found a verdict of not guilty. In reply to a question by a juror, the Court stated that the government had a right to indict a decoy letter.—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

We saw Slavin yesterday, on Mill Street, this city.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

JANUARY SESSION—IN PROVIDENCE.

THURSDAY MORNING, JAN. 26.

Senate.

Mr. Greene gave notice of an intention to introduce an act in amendment of Sec. 2, Chap. 74 of the Revised Statutes, relative to births, marriages and deaths.

Mr. Currey presented the petition of H. A. Gardner and others, of Swansey, in favor of the proposed new boundary between Massachusetts and Rhode Island; read and referred to Select Committee on the Boundary Question.

Mr. Boyley presented statistics of Normal Schools, which were received and referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

It appears from these statistics that 60 per cent. of the females and 70 per cent. of the male scholars became teachers in the State.

Mr. Reynolds offered a resolution directing the Judiciary Committee to report an act amendatory of the statute prescribing the manner and mode of paying witnesses in criminal cases.

Mr. Hargis spoke at some length in regard to the present and proposed method of paying witnesses, and thought that to pay witnesses when the case was ended, instead of whenever they chose to call for the money, was altogether the best method.

Mr. Currey agreed with Mr. Burgess, and said that a great many witnesses, if paid up promptly every day, would be unwise when they were most wanted.

Lieut. Gov. Saunders thought that some amendment was necessary, but that a great many poor people were summoned, who needed their pay before the case on which they were witnesses came on, and if they were such unscrupulous fellows, it was rather hard to convict any one on their evidence. The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Osborne presented petitions of David Robinson and others, Wm. Blake and others, Thos. B. Earle and others, Anthony Davis and others, in favor of a bill, involving the proposed change in boundary line; referred to the special boundary committee.

Adjourned.

House of Representatives.

The House met at 10 o'clock, Mr. Speaker Hayes in the chair.

Mr. Barnes, of Smithfield, moved that the vote referring the petition of Mumford Hazard to the Judiciary Committee be reconsidered, with a view of referring it to the special committee on the petition of Charles T. Hazard.

Mr. Baker thought we had a competent Judiciary Committee, and the matter had better be left with them for examination.

Mr. Smith, of Cumberland, favored their consideration, on the ground that the facts set forth in this petition are highly necessary for the consideration of the special committee.

Mr. Blake, of Cumberland, also supported the reconsideration.

Mr. Baker remarked that the illness of the chairman of the special committee (Mr. Sheffield) would undoubtedly prevent the action of that committee upon the petition, if it was referred to them.

Mr. Newell, of Smithfield, suggested that if the committee was crippled, it be strengthened by the addition of Mr. Baker.

Mr. Lutz explained that he voted for the reference to the Judiciary Committee because he understood that the special committee desired such reference.

Mr. Whitney, of Newport, in supporting the reconsideration, enlarged upon the importance of the subject involved in the petition, and the inquiry of unlimited, undelimited equity powers.

Mr. Van Zandt thought that if the select committee now wished the reference of the petition to themselves, there was no serious objection to such reference.

After further remarks by Messrs. Hartwell, King, Farnes and J. J. Clark, the motion for reconsideration was carried, and the petition was referred to the select committee.

The Chair announced that he had received a communication from Wm. P. Sheffield, asking to be excused from serving on the special committee, and upon motion of Mr. Sanford, he was so excused. The Chair appointed Mr. Dixon to fill his vacancy.

Mr. Sanford, from the Committee on Education, reported favorably upon the resolution directing the Secretary of State to furnish State documents to the American Association in London, and the resolution was passed in concurrence.

Mr. Hilden presented the petition of Wm. W. Harp and others for incorporation of State Saving Bank; referred to Committee on Corporations.

Mr. Van Zandt introduced a resolution, which was adopted, directing the Secretary of State to furnish to each member of the General Assembly a copy of the Fifth Volume of the Reports of the Supreme Court.

Mr. Knowles called attention to a suggestion in the May report of the State Auditor, that the publication of these reports, now costing $1360, need not cost the State anything, as the copyright might be sold for a sum sufficient to cover the expense of publication.

Mr. Manchester, of Fall River, presented the petition of R. Burden and others, for a change of boundary line; referred to the special committee on the subject.

Mr. Barnes gave notice of an act in amendment of Chapter 33 of the Revised Statutes—"Of the election and qualification tion of Town Officers,"—the intent of which will be to dispense with numbering Councilmen in Providence.

Adjourned.

THIRTY-SIXTH CONGRESS.

FIRST SESSION.

WASHINGTON, JAN. 25.

SENATE.

Mr. Lane (Dem., Oregon), presented the proceedings of the Union meeting held in New York City, with a few remarks. Mr. Hale (Rep., N. H.), opposed to their reception, on the ground that the Senate had heretofore objected to the reception of matters upon which the Senate could take no action. Mr. Lane finally withdrew the paper. Some other business was done, when Mr. Brown's resolution, that the Territories are the common property of all the States, was taken up; and Mr. Wilson (Rep., Mass.) addressed the Senate at length. He was followed by Mr. Davis (Dem., Miss.) when the Senate adjourned.

Mr. Bristow (S. Am., Ky.) addressed the House, deprecating the extremes of both parties. He was followed by Messrs. Woodson (Dem., Mo.), Hatton (S. Am., Tenn.), Cox (Dem., Ohio), and Logan (Dem., Ill.), all of whom made personal explanations, when Mr. Ashmore (Dem., S. C.) moved the expulsion from the galleries of the reporters for The N. Y. Herald. Mr. Keitt (Dem., S. C.) replied to some of the arguments of Mr. Corwin (Rep., Ohio). Mr. Boteler (S. Am., Va.) followed, attributing John Brown's raid to the Republican party agitating the Slavery Question. Mr. Colfax (Rep., Ind.) replied. Mr. Etheridge (S. Am., Tenn.) then urged the House to stop debate and vote for Speaker. After his remarks, the House voted, when it was found Mr. Sherman lacked three votes of an election. Adjourned.

About four weeks ago Edward Campion, aged 15 years, whose parents reside in Troy, N. Y., left home, since which time nothing was heard of him, until Monday last, when the engineer who was in charge of a train of cars on the Troy and Greenbush road, going into Troy, saw a person lying upon the track a short distance ahead, with his face downward, and across a rail, and his arms extended upward, so that the hands reached just above his head. He sounded the whistle, put on the brakes, and reversed the engine; but the person did not stir, and it was impossible to stop the train before it came upon him. Of course, he was instantly killed, and mangled in the most shocking manner. On taking the body to Troy, it was found to be that of young Campion. The probabilities are that the boy had become desperate and perhaps destitute, and that sooner than return to his home, he resorted to an awful expedient of committing suicide to end his troubles.

The Hon. Theodore Frelinghuysen of N. J., who stood a good chance 15 years ago of being Vice-President of the United States, took to himself a wife two years ago, at the ripe age of seventy-two (himself and not the wife), and last week he had born to him a son and heir. He will probably name the boy after himself, Theodore, meaning God-given—it will certainly be appropriate. Such instances of "better late than never" are not very common, but there have been some very remarkable ones. Sir Stephen Fox, the father of James Fox, was married at the age of eighty, and was afterwards blessed with three sons. Mr. Frelinghuysen is now married for the second time. He had no children by the first wife.

Columbus, Ohio, witnessed a very enthusiastic scene Thursday on the arrival of the members of the Tennessee and Kentucky Legislatures. The speech of welcome by Gov. Dennison, of Ohio, was responded to by Gov. Magoffin, of Kentucky, and Col. Newcomb, of Tennessee. After the joint convention Legislature adjourned, there was an extempore meeting, which was very spirited and good tempered. Patriotism was very marked in the speeches throughout.

The Board of Managers of the Virginia Military Institute has instructed the Superintendent to confine his purchases for the Institute, as far as practicable, to goods manufactured in the State, or to foreign goods imported directly into the State.

Mary Ann Harris, a colored woman of Boston, who has been in custody nearly a year, on a charge of murder, by poisoning an infant child, was brought before the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, on Monday, and discharged.

A little son of Gardner Collins, named Norton, of East Rodman, St. Lawrence Co., N. Y., while jumping from a hay mow in his father's barn, ran a fork-tine in his nose in such a manner as to cause his death almost instantly.

The winter, thus far, has been very favorable for the wheat crop at the North-West. The Cleveland Plaindealer says:—"Look out for a large crop of this staple another year."

A married woman named Mary Ann Tripp, residing in South Boston, was burned to death on Sunday night, by her clothes taking fire.

A bill has been passed in the Virginia Legislature, appropriating $150,000 to pay the expenses of the Harper's Ferry affair.

FOUSLE'S PABULUM VITAE.

THE GREAT FRENCH REMEDY, possesses extraordinary properties for the speedy and permanent cure of CONSUMPTION, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, COLDS, and all PULMONARY DISEASES.

This celebrated specific is now universally acknowledged to be infinitely superior to all other preparations for the cure of Pulmonary Disease, both from its innocent nature and its most astonishing curative properties; it is the only remedy known in the world, for restoring the normal functions of the pulmonary organs to their natural condition. Its invaluable properties have obtained for it the highest recommendations and praise from some of the most eminent physicians and chemists in the country; while the best and surest proofs of its merits are afforded by the numerous testimonials of its great efficacy in conquering disease, which are constantly received from our most respectable citizens. Invalids in all stages of pulmonary disease should not fail to give it a trial, as it can be administered with the most delicate and feeble with perfect safety and certain relief; and we herewith insert a few testimonials for their encouragement, selected from hundreds of like reports.

Certificate of Dr. A. A. HAYES, in reference to the unequalled virtues of this great discovery. This preparation, by chemical analysis, was proved to be free from opium or any of its compounds; nor were any of the alkaloids present. It does not contain any mercurial or mineral substance, but consists wholly of volatile, diffusible agents, which afford support to the system, and act efficiently upon the substance of the lungs; but the disease by which they are combined is new and original, and adapts the compound to inhalation, or other modes of administration.

Respectfully,
A. A. HAYES, M. D., State Assayer,
16 Boylston Street, Boston, Dec. 19, 1857.

TESTIMONIAL from the Assistant Superintendent of Health: Boston, Oct. 5, 1859.

Sir—It affords me great pleasure in recommending to those troubled with Pulmonary Complaints the use of Fousle's Pabulum Vitae; and my own experience has shown that it is a most valuable remedy, and I would most cheerfully recommend its use to those troubled with the above complaints, so common to our climate.

Respectfully yours,
DANIEL B. CURTIS,
To F. J. LAFORME, Room 12, City Hall.

F. J. LAFORME, Esq.: Dear Sir—This may certify that I have used Fousle's Pabulum Vitae, and I consider it the best article that I have ever used for pulmonary complaints. My wife has been afflicted for several months, and it has been a great relief to her, and I have no objection to your referring in any way to the fact that you deem expedient. I have given the above named a fair trial, and with confidence advise all that are afflicted with colds or pulmonary complaints to try it.

THE GREAT WONDER OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY. PROFESSOR WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.
Says the St. Louis (Mo) Democrat: Below we publish a letter to Dr. Wood of this city, from a gentleman in Maine, which speaks glowingly of the superior merits of his hair tonic. Such evidence must have its effect, when coming from a reliable source. If your difficulties are guarantees of truth, the Dr. needs no ennumerations, nor useless puffery. From the press:
BATH, Maine, Jan. 20, 1859.
Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.:
GENTLEMEN: Having my attention called a few months since to the highly beneficial effects of your hair restorative, I was induced to make application of it upon my own hair, which had become quite grey, probably on third white; my whiskers were of a more character. Some three months since I procured a bottle of your hair restorative, and used it. I soon found it was proving what I needed. I used it about a week. I have since procured another bottle, of which I have used some. I can now certify to the world that the grey or white hair has totally disappeared, both on my head and face, and my hair has resumed its natural color, and I believe, more soft and glossy than it has been before for twenty-five years. I am now sixty-two years old; my good wife at the age of fifty-two has used it with the same effect.
The above notice I deem due to you for your valuable discovery. I am assured that whoever will rightly use, as per directions, will not have occasion to contradict my statement. I am a citizen of this city and a resident here for the last fifteen years, and am known to nearly every one here and adjoining towns. Any use you may make of the above, with my name attached, is at your service, as I wish to preserve the beauties of nature in others as well as myself. I am, truly yours,
A. C. RAYMOND.

THE GREAT WONDER OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY. PROFESSOR WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.
Says the St. Louis (Mo) Democrat: Below we publish a letter to Dr. Wood of this city, from a gentleman in Maine, which speaks glowingly of the superior merits of his hair tonic. Such evidence must have its effect, when coming from a reliable source. If your difficulties are guarantees of truth, the Dr. needs no ennumerations, nor useless puffery. From the press:
BATH, Maine, Jan. 20, 1859.
Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.:
GENTLEMEN: Having my attention called a few months since to the highly beneficial effects of your hair restorative, I was induced to make application of it upon my own hair, which had become quite grey, probably on third white; my whiskers were of a more character. Some three months since I procured a bottle of your hair restorative, and used it. I soon found it was proving what I needed. I used it about a week. I have since procured another bottle, of which I have used some. I can now certify to the world that the grey or white hair has totally disappeared, both on my head and face, and my hair has resumed its natural color, and I believe, more soft and glossy than it has been before for twenty-five years. I am now sixty-two years old; my good wife at the age of fifty-two has used it with the same effect.
The above notice I deem due to you for your valuable discovery. I am assured that whoever will rightly use, as per directions, will not have occasion to contradict my statement. I am a citizen of this city and a resident here for the last fifteen years, and am known to nearly every one here and adjoining towns. Any use you may make of the above, with my name attached, is at your service, as I wish to preserve the beauties of nature in others as well as myself. I am, truly yours,
A. C. RAYMOND.
